Our Anticipation.

The housewife who complained that she had longed for ten years to possess a Hale's Honey, but now that she can get one she discovers that she wants a Napoleon led in mahogany. This is the only reason. Practically all of our pleasures come from anticipation. Realization is much less colorful and pleasurable. The woman who had pictured for years a nice solid brass bed sitting on her rose-tinted carpet, beside the mahogany dressing table, and had warmed her spirit in the rosy dreams of that anticipation, has practically exhausted all the possibilities in the ownership of such a treasure. The treasure itself amounts to much less.

It is so with the youth who look forward longingly to the day when we can buy all the chocolate creams that we want, but on arriving at that desirable estate we discover that very few satisfy us. Anticipation dwells upon a big round soft muff, but realization shows us that round muffs are scarce, and that besides, muffs are the thing. We dream of an automobile—and before it is realized the flying machine appears on the horizon. Desire is much; realization is little. Give us our anticipations. —Detroit News.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Firemen Invited to Putnam Dance—Land Being Bought by Long Island Farmers—French Paper on File at Public Library.

Alfred A. Richards of Boston was a visitor with friends in Danielson Wednesday.

Irving Bennett of Woonsocket, formerly engaged in business in Danielson, is spending a few days in town.

James C. Moran of Providence has been the guest of relatives in Danielson.

Frank P. Kingston of Fall River called on friends in Danielson Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Hall of Dayville have been visiting Mr. Hall's parents at Wrentham, Mass.

Witnessed Pomfret Game.

A party from Danielson went to Pomfret Wednesday afternoon to see the football game between the Pomfret school and Worcester high teams.

Fire Fighters Invited to Putnam. The members of the Danielson fire department have received an invitation from the Putnam firemen to be their guests at a dance to be given in Putnam this (Thursday) evening, following the inspection arranged for that afternoon. A number of the local firemen will accept the invitation.

Pleasant Season for 13th Company. The entertainment committee and the sports committee of the Thirteenth company, C. A. C., are arranging to give the members an interesting season of indoor sports. A basketball team will be organized; also a basketball team. The company also expects to put on a military drama during the winter.

Arranging for Election Returns. The executive committee of the Bohemian Club is making arrangements for an election night smoker at their rooms in the Franklin block. Returns and election results in all parts of the state are to be secured through a special service.

Ninety-six Ballots Rejected. An effort is to be made to have the electors vote with greater care at the state election to be held in November. At the recent town election 96 ballots out of 1,000 cast were rejected entirely. This percentage is regarded as entirely too high. Of the 96 ballots rejected 80 were discarded because of failure to put a cross in the circle at the head of the column. This is a detail of voting with the Australian ballot method that should be complied with. There is no chance to do better than that if one expects his vote to be counted.

Go to Topeka.

E. L. Burdick, brother of Mrs. George Sanders of Danielson, writes in a recent letter to Edward H. Clark that he has left the service of the Washington railroad, where he has been engaged for the last 10 years, and is about to become an engineer on the A. T. & Santa Fe, with headquarters at Topeka, Kan.

Long Island Farmers Buying Land Cheap. The number of long island farmers that are coming into the town in this section of eastern Connecticut are attracted by the excellent lands that they are able to secure at a reasonable valuation after having sold their Long Island farms to wealthy New Yorkers, who do not object to paying as high as $400 an acre for country places close to the metropolis. Several farms in Killingly and Brooklyn section mentioned during the past few months.

French Paper in Library Files. In an endeavor to supply daily information relative to current events for the large number of French-speaking residents of Danielson and vicinity, many of whom read French only, L'Opinion Publique has been added to the files at the public library. Miss Evelyn Curtis, librarian, states that periodicals printed in French are soon to be added to the wide variety of reading matter at the library, variety additions are to be made to meet what is felt to be the desire of many patrons.

Observing Yom Kippur.

Danielson Hebrews are today (Thursday) observing Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the celebration having commenced at sunset on Wednesday, to continue for 24 hours. No services are being held here, but the local people of the ancient faith are uniting with the congregations at Norwich and Putnam.

Water a Plenty.

Danielson's water supply is as plentiful and of as high quality as at any time in the history of the town. All directions reports of shortness are coming in. The reservoirs at East Killingly, in spite of the fact that they are supposed to supply a city of many thousands, still hold many months' supply.

To Spend Winter in Los Angeles. Henry P. Clark is to leave Danielson Monday to spend the winter in Los Angeles. He is to go from Worcester to Chicago, from which city he will travel to the Pacific coast on the Sunset Limited. Mr. Clark, who is

PUTNAM

George H. Wilson of Putnam and Miss Zoe Burton of Danielson Married in Worcester—Bravery of Train Crew in Jewett City Rescue—Vandenberg Marriage.

Warnings are being given to those who have leaves to burn that they must exercise due care in setting and controlling fires. The danger may not result to property. Brush fires caused by stray sparks and careless persons in the woods are of daily occurrence in this section.

The following story of special interest to Putnam and Danielson people appeared in a Worcester paper Wednesday morning:

Two young people, giving their names as George H. Wilson and Miss Zoe M. Burton, and residence of the groom as Putnam, Conn., and the bride as Danielson, Conn., were married secretly this afternoon by Rev. George E. Tomkinson, pastor of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson registered at Hotel Newman, Main street, tonight. The register gives their residence as Bridgeport, Conn. They arrived in Southbridge at 1.15 o'clock, this afternoon, making their trip overland. Their horse and carriage were taken to a livery stable in Southbridge, where it is to remain until tomorrow.

At the livery stable inquiry was made by the young groom for a clergyman. Rev. Mr. Tomkinson was located and a marriage license was taken out at the office of Attorney William V. Buckley, town clerk. Wilson gave his age as 21 years and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Putnam, Conn.

Miss Burton gave her age as 21 years and her residence as Danielson, Conn. Her occupation she gave as a telephone operator. She said she is a daughter of Henry and Mary (Henderson) Burton.

The couple after leaving the office of the town clerk, had the marriage ceremony performed, then secured quarters for the remainder of the day at Hotel Newman.

Candidates for Carnegie Medals. A rubdown and dry clothing were two things that Eugene Sanders, James Farrell was badly in need of when his train pulled into Putnam at about 3.45 Wednesday afternoon. He received both in a short time. He was back to his normal condition of robust complacency after figuring in a sensational investigation of Jewett City that was attended by circumstances more often found in the settings of lurid literature than in real life.

Incidentally, the man who was an eligible for a Carnegie Medal. Like- wise might this be said of Conductor J. L. Davis and other men in the train crew who were warmly praised by passengers who were witnesses of the thrilling incident when the train nearly ran down a car of ten on the bridge below the Jewett City station.

The instant application of the brakes did not serve the engineer's purpose of stopping in this case. The car, which was well above the bridge before the speed was checked. There was a rush of passengers and train crew to the edge of the water, and some twenty feet below, the car had jumped in her terror, was seen floating in the river. Eugene Sanders and Farrell plunged into the water, and swam out to the child at midstream. While Farrell was doing his part in the rescue, James Farrell, who was waded waist deep in the water, another member of the crew out the bell rope out of rear coach of the train and rushed back to the bridge from where he lowered the quickly thought of life line to the rescuers below. Tied to the rope, the little girl was hoisted to safety, having suffered a scalp wound. Davis and Farrell were also assisted ashore.

The train was about a half-hour late into Putnam, but a brief time was taken, more to get dry clothing for those of the crew who needed it.

WEDDING.

Vandenberg Delay. At the Catholic church at West Thompson Wednesday morning, Miss Anna Delay of Thompson and Frank Vandenberg of this city were married by Rev. J. J. Sullivan.

Miss Mary—Delay, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Frank Brown of Boston was groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandenberg will make their home in Putnam.

Tea Followed Meeting.

The Ladies' Social circle of the Congregational church met with Mrs. George E. Shaw Wednesday afternoon. Tea was served.

City Notes.

The schools in Putnam were closed Wednesday in observance of Columbus day.

The ladies of the Methodist church held a business meeting at the parsonage Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' aid society of the Baptist church met with Mrs. Dell Warren Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Dwyer were visitors in Worcester Wednesday.

Danielson firemen will be guests at the Putnam firemen at the dance this evening. The inspection parade will start promptly at five o'clock.

Mrs. Charles T. Thayer and daughter Katherine visited friends in Danielson Wednesday.

How to Learn to Fly.

Where can I buy an airplane, and what will it cost me?
New machines cost from $3,000 to $7,500, although the Standard Daimler can be bought for $1,200. In importing machines into this country there are extra charges, duty, freight, etc., which amount to 50 per cent. of the original cost. So much for the machine.

But this is not all. You must be prepared to take lessons in flying and spend as much time as may be necessary to become proficient. Mr. Karman has said that the airplane broke made by the average man in learning to fly amounts to nearly $2,000, and that to avoid dangers and to prevent accidents a man should have at least sixty trips in the air under the instruction of a competent teacher before he takes control of the machine himself.

Regular schools have been established abroad at Chonou, Pau, Bue, Etampes, Mornay, Juvisy, Issy and Moulon. Hundreds of flights are being made every week.—World's Work.

A Chance for the Loomies.

The $200,000, which, by Chicago report, are now set free by the death of the late John Loomis for the Loomie Institute at Windsor, are to be applied to the education of all the members of the Loomie family now in this country. None of the five original Loomies had children and so to perpetuate their name, they decided to give opportunities of culture to the offspring of their family.

One hundred years from now the results will be watched with interest by the Loomies as well as by the world as a whole.

After Fire Protection Needed. Notices have been posted to the effect that a special meeting of the Mystic fire district will be held to take some action on purchasing a new fire engine for the district. Ever since the old fire department's rooms, on Holmes street, were destroyed by a fire and the fire engine not burned up, Mystic has had little protection from fire. The water pressure is not reliable, and at two of the four fires held within the past three months two streams of water was all that could be had. At the two last fires Mystic has had to call on Nonak fire department for help, and they have brought their engine, which has worked successfully.

Commuters' Excursions.

Questions have been asked as to what would happen if the courts should finally decide, as an outcome of the pending litigation over the commuting rates, that the rate should be reduced. If it could be no substitute devised to take their place the outcome might be serious for the commuters, for the rate is so high that it is almost impossible to get to work without commuting distance of the great business centers.

Many commuters might not be able to pay the full rate of fare daily from their home in the country to their place of business in the city, even though the rate should be reduced.

It would probably be much lower than any one-way fare now in force. Under such circumstances they would find it almost impossible to get to work. In the place where they do business, a move of that character would be a serious one for the commuters, for it would not only be a financial loss in the passenger business, but also in the volume of freight traffic. The result would be a serious loss to the population of their contributing area.

Exhibit Hall. The usual display of farm and garden product is to be seen in the main hall, and the fancy and needle work show that the women of Stafford Springs have not been spending their time in idleness.

Bench Show. The dog show, in charge of David Blisset and H. O. Butterfield, is a feature this year, after an absence of several years. The entries are somewhat limited, but those that have been entered show considerable class.

Poultry Exhibit. The poultry show has also been restored this year, and is in charge of LaVerne Dimock.

Lively on the Midway. The midway is lively with attractions, and there is ample opportunity for speculation in games of numerous kinds. The Ferris wheel, the merry go rounds and the fish ponds are proving especially interesting to the young folks. The diving girls are here, and the cane ringers and fortune tellers are doing a good business.

The Races. The track was in good condition on Tuesday, and a couple of good races were pulled off. The mills, stores and schools were closed on Wednesday. The police officers are in charge of Deputy Sheriff Helm, and the best of order is maintained.

Turkey and Greece. The most striking feature of the European situation at the present time is the possibility of war between Turkey and Greece over the Cretan situation. The Turkish government is determined not to permit the government of Greece to impair its sovereignty over Crete in any respect; hence, should the revision of the constitution now proceeding in Greece, lead to any attempt to annex Crete or place the island under Greek protection or influence, Turkey will promptly send troops into Greece and impose respect for her rights on her unruly neighbor by force of arms.

A conflict between Turkey and Greece, if allowed to proceed by the powers, could have but one ending—namely, the utter defeat and humiliation of the latter country, which is in no respect whatever in a position to cope with her big neighbor in the field.

The Turkish government is steadily preparing for trouble. Warships and artillery have been purchased from Germany, and loans are being sought in various financial centers of Europe. The French government has refused to permit Paris bankers to loan the Turkish loan because the Turkish government out of deference for the feelings of a good portion of the money in France for the war memorial fund.

The loan had been arranged in England, but at the last moment the British government was able to bring about the cancellation of the arrangement out of deference for the feelings of France—New Orleans Picayune.

YANTIC HAPPENINGS.

Ladies' Guild to Tender Reception to New Rectory—October Visits.

The members of the Ladies' Guild met Wednesday afternoon in the chapel to make arrangements for the reception which is to be tendered to the new rectory, Rev. Mr. Cockrane, at the chapel on Wednesday evening, October 26.

Deacon William Robinson of Franklin entertained his two nieces at his home on Wednesday.

Miss Mary Barnes of School Hill, while in the grove near her residence, picked a number of violets on Wednesday.

Why the Court Relented. Mrs. Mary Armstrong of 1 Fayette street, South End, was yesterday arraigned in the municipal court, before Judge Murray, on a charge of attempting to murder her own child. She was released on $1000 bail for recognition for a period of two weeks.

A few days ago Mrs. Armstrong took her eight year old boy Ernest to Norcross wharf at 480 Albany street and jumped overboard with him. The two were rescued by Frank Corne and Leslie Moulton, members of the crew of a barge that was passing in the South bay at the time. Mother and child were taken to the City hospital.

In court Mrs. Armstrong was unable to tell the pitiful tale of her experiences. Chief Dugan told the court for her.

She was married at Ipswich in May of 1907, the chief said, and was taken ill. Her husband was a drunkard and of her bad health, leaving her in a destitute condition. Mrs. Armstrong, the chief said, afterwards heard that her husband had drowned her, but she did not know whether or not it was true. She came to Boston, and the police chief went on and placed the boy in the Little Wanderers' home in West Newton street, where she made arrangements to go to the city for adoption. The arrangement was that she should not know who adopted it.

Mrs. Armstrong then went to work as a servant. Three days later she went to the home to see if the child had been legally adopted and was told that the woman who was going to take the child had been taken ill and was unable to do so.

Her mother-love then overpowered her. She demanded that the child be given to her. The officers at once complied, she having satisfied them that she was the boy's mother. The boy was brought to her, but failed to recognize her. It was a shock. She pressed him to her and caressed him, but while, with childish innocence, the boy never gave her the slightest indication of what she was a stranger. Hand in hand, they left the home. In Blackstone park the mother held the boy for a time on one of the benches. Still she was unrecognized. Taking a sudden resolution, the woman led her child to Norcross wharf. Reaching there, she jumped overboard with the child in her arms.
